

Fatliquor HC

A unique fatliquor containing a hair conditioner. It has a very high fat content, yet is stable in a high electrolyte solution. Does not contain any neutral oils that can migrate or leach out during rehydration. Aids in the overall softness of the skin. Helps skins move more freely in the wet wheel and avoids tangling.

Bring product to room temperature and mix well. Wear splash proof goggles, and disposable rubber gloves to prevent any eye or skin irritation.

Activity: 83-86%

Fatty Matter: 73-76%

Recommended use:

- Pickle: Use $\frac{1}{4}$ to 1 ounce of Fatliquor HC per gallon of the pickle to help make shaving smoother.
- Tan: Use $\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ ounces of Fatliquor HC to each gallon of the tanning solution as a supplement to the swabbing oil. It is recommended to run tan for several hours before adding.
- Fatliquor HC can be used as a full oiling (fatliquoring). For full oiling, it is recommended to use 10 – 15% after tan has been exhausted (percentage is based on the shaved, drained weight of the hides).
- NOTE: For Taxidermy Tanning, it is recommended to use Fatliquor HC only as an auxiliary and not as a full oiling. Skins tanned for Taxidermy should be oiled with a Swab Oil which will help reduce shrinkage.

Note: Do not place a hide in hot water. This can loosen the hair and cause bacteria growth.
